Mozaik Editorial Policy

Who We Are

Mozaik (established 1992) is the ecumenical journal of the World Student Christian Federation Europe Region (WSCF-E), published in Berlin, Germany, twice a year. It aims to reflect the wide variety of opinions and viewpoints present among the different Student Christian Movements (SCMs) in dialogue.

Our readers are Christian students and ecumenically-minded Christians throughout Europe and the rest of the world. Mozaik is distributed to SCMs in Europe and participants at WSCF Europe events. All content is also available for free online at www.wscf-europe.org.

What We Seek

We seek ecumenical and interreligious dialogue. We see these as opportunities to discover the diversity and richness of the Christian faith. We encourage contributors to write from their own tradition, both with confidence and openness. We believe in the value of exposure and interaction with new ideas and perspectives.

We value student voices. As thinkers and disciples, students hold a unique perspective as they look from their academic situation out onto the world, and vice versa. Mozaik values prophetic voices and seeks to provide space for sharing and discussion of new ideas that may not otherwise find an outlet within the traditional established gathering of intellectual and theological discussion.

We provide a space for SCMs to share their experiences and reflections connecting the region.
